

Our purpose: Accelerating the future of energy, together

At AES Argentina, we believe the future of energy is sustainable, innovative, and interconnected, and we remain committed to leading that transformation every day.

To achieve this, we advance initiatives that create positive impact across our business, our communities, and society as a whole. We build our relationships on trust, transparency, and meaningful impact, guided by the ethics, integrity, and compliance standards that define our company. To support these goals we have established the following commitments:

- Reinforce our conviction that energy development represents a unique opportunity to advance a more sustainable, reliable, and resilient energy matrix while creating shared value.
- Embrace our leadership role in the transformation and evolution of Argentina's energy system.
- Strengthen our presence in the communities where we operate through collaborative initiatives aligned with our Social Impact Policy.
- Position AES as the partner of choice in every local market environment while creating long-term social, environmental, and economic value for the company and its stakeholders in the communities where we operate.

At AES Argentina, we believe the future of energy is sustainable, innovative, and interconnected, and we remain committed to leading that transformation every day.

Environment: we contribute to the sustainable development of the communities where we operate by promoting responsible resource management, efficient waste management practices, and environmental stewardship.

Education: we support learning and professional development while promoting initiatives that equip people with the skills needed to succeed in the workforce. We also collaborate with educational institutions to strengthen technical education, improve infrastructure, and provide resources that enhance teaching and learning outcomes.

Economic Development: we support local initiatives that drive economic growth and strengthen local economies, while encouraging employee volunteerism and community engagement.

Health and Resilience: we promote the healthy growth and development of children, particularly in underserved communities, and prioritize emergency response efforts during times of crisis.

Safety first

Highest standards

All together

Martin Genesio
Presidente

aes Argentina